

RACING UNDER NEW LAWS.

THE STATE COMMISSION'S REPORT TO THE LEGISLATURE.

Two Important Amendments Recommended—Associations to Have the Right to Charge for Certain Privileges on Their Grounds—No More Affairs Like Masepeth.

ALBANY, Feb. 17.—The State Racing Commission, composed of August Belmont, Edwin D. Morgan, and John Sanford, presented to the Legislature to-night its first annual report. It is an exhaustive document, dealing in detail with the practical operation of the Gray-Percy law, and concluding, with such recommendations as experience suggested for its perfection. Two of these recommendations will undoubtedly be the subject of legislation. The first will be an amendment of section 18 of the present law, so that it may be possible for the several racing associations to discriminate the prices of admission they may charge to certain portions of their grounds where certain privileges may be enjoyed, providing always, of course, that these privileges are not contrary to law, and do not contemplate pool selling or bookmaking. The second amendment will be designed to make it impossible for any such attempt to violate the law as that which was designed by De Lacy and others in the Masepeth bogus fair of last fall.

In accordance with a strong letter addressed to them by the Coney Island Jockey Club, the Brooklyn Jockey Club, and the Westchester Racing Association, the Commission has recommended that the Legislature should lighten the burdens imposed by the State of five per cent. on the gross receipts, to the extent at least that such tax shall neither create nor increase a deficit. The Commission suggests some alternative propositions on the subject, but it is understood that this is the one which the members of the Legislature do not feel called upon to introduce legislation in the matter. From the time of the report it may be accepted that it will contain itself with a mere report and recommendation on this subject, and will then allow it to be entirely at the discretion of the Legislature.

A strong feature of the report is contained in the appended copy of the judgments of the several courts in which the constitutionality of the law was upheld. It is a neat compilation to the wisdom of the Legislature of 1895, and brings forcibly to the attention of the present Legislature the fact that the law has been upheld by the highest courts in the land. It does not feel called upon to introduce legislation in the matter. From the time of the report it may be accepted that it will contain itself with a mere report and recommendation on this subject, and will then allow it to be entirely at the discretion of the Legislature.

The enactment by the Legislature of chapter 570 of the Laws of 1895, being the so-called "Gray-Percy" bill, for the regulation of racing, was the first time in its history the attempt was made not only to remove racing from surrounding which were not conducive to its highest development, but, through the State Racing Commission and the Jockey Club, to provide safeguards against the recurrence of evils which, in the opinion of many of its supporters, had become associated with the turf.

"The Commission is convinced that the experiment of racing under its new conditions is a decided success. The passage of the constitutional amendments, the removal of pool selling, bookmaking, and other kinds of gambling, should not thereafter be authorized or allowed within this State, and requesting the Legislature to pass appropriate laws to carry the provision into effect, was a great departure from former laws, and might have been the occasion for wise action on the part of the Legislature. "The men prominently identified with the Jockey Club, an organization which had already assumed the practical control of racing some time before the adoption of the constitutional amendments, have been recognized by the Legislature as the proper authority to regulate racing of horses under auspices and conditions where it could be controlled. The Legislature has recognized the Jockey Club as the proper authority to regulate racing of horses under auspices and conditions where it could be controlled. The Legislature has recognized the Jockey Club as the proper authority to regulate racing of horses under auspices and conditions where it could be controlled.

"The safeguards thrown about racing by these provisions have been found to work well in practice. The law has been found to be the highest of the kind, and many persons prominent in the community who have not of late been in the habit of attending the races, have turned to, or have, for the first time, become identified with the turf. It is, however, not the net result of the racing season, but the fact that the law has been found to be the highest of the kind, and many persons prominent in the community who have not of late been in the habit of attending the races, have turned to, or have, for the first time, become identified with the turf.

"There were, in all, in this State 347 races run last year under the auspices of these associations, and the Commission has been able to ascertain the names of the owners of the winners of these races. It is estimated that the total of these races was 347, and the Commission has been able to ascertain the names of the owners of the winners of these races. ROOSEVELT IN RARE FORM.

He is a Ten to One Shot, and Leads All the Way at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 17.—Mardi Gras has taken the town by storm. At the race course, in spite of the counter attractions, fully 3,500 people were present. The track was full, and the most of the winter were well behaved, and the public did not mind, although only two favorites won. Roosevelt clearly won the chief event, a handicap race at one mile and twenty yards. As good as 10 to 1 was laid against the horse, who led the race, and the crowd was so large that the track was full. "While the large stakes were not in many instances reduced during the past year, the average value of the horses has been reduced, and a general reduction has been made for the coming year. In all cases, the value of the horses has been reduced, and a general reduction has been made for the coming year. In all cases, the value of the horses has been reduced, and a general reduction has been made for the coming year.

"An examination of the sales at public auction of the yearlings of 1894 and 1895 reveals the fact that the horses giving evidence of only average merit has no longer a value at all equal to that which was placed upon it. The value of the horses has been reduced, and a general reduction has been made for the coming year. FIGHTERS NAME FRIDAY.

MAHER PUTS UP AN EXTRA FORTY TO MEET FITZSIMMONS.

AN Exciting Contest, Which Fits at First Declares the Battle On—What the Mexican Authorities Will Do if the Pugilists Attempt to Fight on That Soil.

EL PASO, Feb. 17.—The first atmosphere of clear to-night has been at any time since the carnival programme was broken into smithereens by Peter Maher's failure to fulfill his part of the contract, owing to physical disability. With the minor lights abandoned and the rapid progress toward complete recovery of the Irishman's eye trouble, there is a general belief that the contest will be held on Friday. The last night of the carnival was a success, and the Mexican authorities will do if the pugilists attempt to fight on that soil.

"We have nothing more to say or do. There is no longer any carnival or any crowd. The sports have gone and our city has resumed its normal condition of peace and quiet. So far as I understand the arrangement made to-day, it is a success. The Mexican authorities will do if the pugilists attempt to fight on that soil. STONELL DEAD.

The Fast Sprinter Killed at Levee after an Accident.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—Stonell, formerly the property of Michael F. Dwyer, became frightened at a pack of foxhounds while exercising on the Levee race course to-day and fell and broke his leg. The horse was immediately killed. Stonell was a six-year-old chestnut horse, by Imp Stonell—Nell, by Imp King Ernest, and was bred by the late David Dunham Withers, at Brookline, Mass. He was sold to Michael F. Dwyer, of New York, for $10,000. He was a fast sprinter, and was known as "The Fast Sprinter." He was killed at the Levee race course to-day and fell and broke his leg. The horse was immediately killed.

HAND TENNIS COMING IN VOGUE.

Rig Handicap Tournament in the New York A. C. Gymnasium.

A new pastime with many good points in its favor was officially launched as a competitive game by the New York A. C. yesterday afternoon. The game, known as hand tennis, is a variation of the game of tennis, and is played on a court which is only six feet wide and ten feet long. The game is played with a ball which is only six inches in diameter, and is played with a racket which is only six inches long.
